COVID-19 notification for Subway, 1209 Hwy 97, Cache Creek

CACHE CREEK – Interior Health (IH) has identified a case of COVID-19 at the Subway restaurant located at 1209 Hwy 97, Cache Creek, B.C.

Public Health routinely follows up with confirmed cases and close contacts directly to provide advice on public health measures such as self-isolation. As an additional precaution, Interior Health is asking people who visited this Subway restaurant on March 25, 26, and 27 to self-isolate and monitor for symptoms until April 10 or 14 days from the time of their visit. For information on self-isolation, see the BC Centre for Disease Control (BCCDC) guide to self-isolation if you do not have COVID-19 or respiratory symptoms.

Symptoms of COVID-19 include the following:
- Fever
- Cough
- Shortness of breath or difficulty breathing
- Other milder symptoms may include: runny nose, fatigue, body aches (muscles and joints aching), diarrhea, headache, sore throat, vomiting and red eyes.

As long as customers remain healthy and do not develop symptoms, they can return to their routine activities 14 days after the date of their visit.

If customers develop respiratory symptoms, they need to self-isolate at home for a minimum of 10 days from the time their symptoms develop and until symptoms resolve. See the BCCDC guide to self-isolation if you have respiratory symptoms.

Testing is not required for those who have mild respiratory symptoms. If respiratory symptoms worsen, particularly those who are older or have underlying health conditions, call 811 or your health-care provider. For further guidance, please use the BC COVID-19 Symptom Self-Assessment Tool.

Please note that community transmission of COVID-19 has been detected in communities across the Interior Health region. All communities should assume COVID-19 cases are present and take appropriate precautions.

Additional information on COVID-19 is also available on the IH Website.
