

Meet Your Aboriginal Career Specialists

Shirlie Delacherois
Aboriginal Recruiter

“I’m excited to be a part of Interior Health’s Aboriginal recruitment team. I am a proud member of the Westbank First Nation and have lived most of my life the Okanagan and Cariboo Chilcotin area of BC. I am passionate about helping Aboriginal job seekers find meaningful employment.”

- Shirlie Delacherois

Community Engagement:

- Attending Aboriginal employment & career events
- Engaging youth in considering careers in healthcare
- Fostering relationships with community and members
- Creating recruitment linkages with Aboriginal communities, educational partners and Aboriginal employment organizations

Organization Awareness:

- Guiding more effective Aboriginal-focused hiring practise at Interior Health
- Developing culturally sensitive employment materials
- Promoting diversity and inclusion at Interior Health

Tracy Mooney,
Aboriginal Employment
Advisor

“I am passionate about my work in supporting Aboriginal job seekers in navigating the application processes and career exploration in the field of healthcare, and in facilitating positive experiences for applicants and employees at Interior Health.”

- Tracy Mooney

Support offered by the AEA:

- Resume/cover letter writing and review
- Interview/prescreen readiness
- Application process
- Onboarding and career exploration

Check out our current Aboriginal employment opportunities at:

Jobs.InteriorHealth.ca/Aboriginal-Employment

If you would like to reach Shirlie or Tracy for employment support, email:

AboriginalEmployment@InteriorHealth.ca